

THE CHATTANOOGA DAILY REBEL.

VOLUME I.

THE DAILY REBEL.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING (EXCEPT MONDAY) BY

FRANC. M. PAUL.

Terms of Subscription:

One copy one month $1.00.
No subscription received for a longer period than one month. The cash must accompany every order.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at the usual rates.

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP FOR SALE.

THE UNDERSIGNED, Proprietors of the Chattanooga Foundry and Machine Works, would sell the entire establishment, embracing Machinery Tools, Stock on hand, &c., all of which is in complete and excellent condition, for $15,000.00 in gold or silver. This sum will cover all expenses which would go immediately into the hands of successors. The superior advantage of location always insure an increasing business to any extensive desired. Persons desirous to invest will do well to call and examine.

THOS. WEBSTER & CO.

Montgomery County and Intelligence, August 20, 1862.
Atlanta Chronicle and Sentinel, Montgomery Advertiser, Macon Telegraph, Columbus Sun, and the Mobile Advertiser and Register copy one month, daily, and send bill to this office.

Good Investment for Capital!

COTTON FACTORY.

50 SHARES OF THE CAPITAL STOCK

(of the Gwinnett Manufacturing Company) for sale.

Now is the time for gentlemen to do their country service, and make money in the operation.

The facts of the case are, the Company have machinery than capital to run, now which is necessary for the manufacture of cotton for the purpose of supplying as far as possible the demand on the market for thread and cloth.

The Company is doing well on capital employed—would do relatively better on more capital.

For particulars address

E. STEAMAN, Agent,

July 26, 1862—dim. L. Wrenn, Georgia.

TELEGRAPHIC.

DISPATCHES FOR THE DAILY REBEL.

Fight in East Tennessee.

Renegades Tennessee Badly Whipped.

COL. CLIFF A PRISONER.

MORRIS, Sept. 13.—Special dispatch to the Evening News dated Knoxville 12th, says: Lieut. Col. Hart's cavalry belonging to Col. J. Smith's Georgia Legion, has just returned from Cumberland Mountains. They encountered Col. Cliff's brigade of renegades Tennesseeans, near Jameson's, when a desperate fight ensued. Forty of the enemy were killed, twenty prisoners and thirty horses, without any loss to the Confederates. Col. Cliff is a prisoner.

Gentlemen who left Leesburg last Sunday, and reached this city yesterday evening, add nothing to the stock of our certain information. At the time of their departure, it was rumored that Fredericksburg, Maryland, a column was advancing on Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, while the main body had already reached the Relay House, nine miles from Baltimore. But late night no official information confirmatory of this rumor had been received here.

Dr. Strader, of Morgan's command, arrived here yesterday, in charge of a Kentucky stage coach, containing three political prisoners arrested by Colonel Morgan. Their names are Dr. Hall, of Glasgow, William O. Newman, of Mecklenburg county, and Mr. Hodges, of Barren county. These gentlemen are prominent Unionists, in their respective counties, and are sent here as hostages for the release of citizens of Kentucky, arrested and imprisoned by the Lincoln authorities for sympathy (expressed or suspected) with the Southern cause. In its arrest of all lewd and abandoned women in and around Chattanooga. The order we understand emanates from the medical department of the army, who have just cause for issuing it if they are at a loss of the health of our troops. Let them all be confined or sent away.

Dr. Strader reports upon the authority of the guard who delivered these prisoners to us at Dr. Dunn's Springs, near the Kentucky line, that there is a general uprising of the people in both Middle Tennessee and Kentucky, who are flocking by thousands to Bragg's army and Morgan's command. The latter have everywhere been received with the most enthusiastic welcomes and demonstrations of joy.

Buell is reported to be hurrying from Nashville towards Bowling Green, by the Edgehill Road. Gen. Bragg is supposed to have crossed the Cumberland, and making for the same point, with fair prospects of reaching it before the Yankees. The Governor of Kentucky has called for 50,000 volunteers for thirty days, to repel the rebel invasion, to rendezvous at Frankfort.

It was believed that Confederate cavalry scouts had been on Friday seen at the Relay House, and that to impede the Confederate advance the victory over the Patapsco at that point had been downed up. It was also reported that Stewart's cavalry had passed to the west of Baltimore, and burnt the bridge over back river, thus cutting off railroad communication with Philadelphia. After leaving Baltimore, our informant heard of the有名 riot, mentioned above, with the additional report that Provost Marshal Vanstrum and his assistant McPhail had been hung by the populace.

Montgomery county, which our forces entered on crossing the Potomac, is said to have given Stewart 150 recruits, who furnished their own horses and equipments. The excitement throughout Maryland is represented as intense in consequence of the Lincoln election and the passage of the Potowmack by the Confederate armies.

From the New York Advertiser:

We have no confirmation of this reported fight at the Relay House, and are inclined to suppose, from information received yesterday evening, that the report is untrue. I am not yet certain that any considerable body of our troops have advanced as far as that place. It is well authenticated though, that Gen. Stewart, with his cavalry, crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay in broad daylight, on the 4th inst. The camp was at the time sick with fever, as was most of the crew, except fifteen men. The Florida ran with six to yards of the Yankee vessel, and her sides are peppered all over with shotgun and grape shot. One gun, inch shell went through her side, a foot above the water line, and exploded in the "starboard." The Florida is a beautiful and well armed corvette to be gaudied. Her armament consists of eighteen guns. Her cash brought the blockade runners with a crew of only thirteen, in broad daylight, is one of the most daring and bold a cessation of the attempt at naval warfare being resorted to by the authorities, a serious and bloody raid occurred, in which many of the crew were killed and wounded by the militia and police, but were not able to effect a rescue.

Another account is that the uprising is that the Confederates were reported to be advancing upon the place, and Wool, the Yankee commander, issued a proclamation warning the citizens that the least attempt at an interruption of trade would be the signal for the beginning of hostilities. The rebels had been marching to the Relay House, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had

crossed the Potowmack at the mouth of Middle Bay, and had captured it, and were threatening to burn it down.

Another account is that the rebels had crossed the Potowmack at